Types of Funding at Alpert Medical School

- ◆ Institutional Financial Aid:
Examples: Alpert Medical School scholarships and loans
Eligibility for AMS aid generally is based upon parents' financial resources as well as student and spousal resources regardless of age, marital status or dependency status. Students who qualify for institutional aid generally are also offered federal student loans as well. All aid decisions made by the Office of Financial Aid are based on need.
- ◆ External Financial Aid
Examples: Federal unsubsidized student loans, federal Graduate PLUS Loans, loans and grants from private sources. Eligibility for external aid IS NOT based upon parents' financial resources. Only student and spousal resources are considered.

How are a Family's Resources Analyzed?

- ◆ Parental Contribution: based upon a combination of prior-prior year income and accumulated assets, number of family members, number enrolled in college, age of parents, etc. AMS does review special circumstances (e.g., care for dependents, out-of-pocket medical expenses) on a case-by-case basis.
- ◆ Student (and Spouse) Contribution: similar criteria as for parents.

Components of a Financial Aid Award

- ◆ Base Loan Concept: for students who qualify for institutional funding, a fixed amount of your need is first met with a combination of loans, commonly referred to as the base loan. All remaining need is covered with AMS scholarships. The base loan amount for the 2024-2025 year is $32,000. The base loan amount for 2025-26 will be set in April, 2025.
